

2014 CFS were lower than 2013 from January through August. Beginning in September and continuing through December there was an increase in CFS activity compared to the prior year. For the reporting period, CFS tended to be highest between May and August, peaking in July.

